Privacy Policy

Your privacy is important to us, and we are striving to protect any and all information that is relayed between you, the user, and the Website or ICIP. However, since this Website is always under construction, ICIP cannot guarantee any level of privacy, and the user should use this site at the user's own risk, and should take precautions accordingly.

Information Collected and its Use

At this time, the Website does not collect or accept any information directly. However, information may be collected indirectly via email or other electronic communications. This information will be used for the purposes of providing or soliciting legal services to you or your organization. Further, you may be directed to other sites from the Website, and these other sites may collect information. ICIP does not warrant and is not responsible for the information collected by these other sites.

With Whom Your Information is Shared

We only share your information with those individuals and entities necessary to provide you with legal services and/or solicit legal services to your or your organization. If required by law or for some other reasons, we will notify you to the fullest extent possible if and when we must disclose any information collected from you through this website that is not directed towards providing and/or soliciting legal services to you or your organization.

Your California Privacy Rights

Beginning on January 1, 2005, California Civil Code Section 1798.83 permits those Users that are California residents to request that ICIP not share your personal information collected through this website with third parties for their direct marketing use. To make such a request, please send an email with your request to info@iciplaw.com.

Links

Our Site may contain links to other sites. ICIP is not responsible for the privacy practices or content of such other sites. We encourage our Users to be aware when they leave our site and to read the terms of use and privacy policy of each web site to which we may link that may collect personally identifiable information.
